I chose to attend UC Riverside because it has a great mechanical engineering program, a beautiful campus, and a great city. The university is located in a valley surrounded by mountains, and there are many natural attractions nearby. My favorite place to visit is the Morongo Basin, which is a desert oasis located in the Mojave Desert. There are many hiking trails and opportunities to explore the natural beauty of the area. UC Riverside is a great place to live and study, and I am glad that I chose to attend there.
