WE CAN’T WAIT TO MEET YOU.

When you attend the University of California, Riverside (UCR), you attend the first campus in the UC system to have an office dedicated to Native American student support. You’re on a campus where nearly half of the students are minorities, half qualify as low-income and more than half are the first in their families to go to college.

Doors open here. You can access leadership opportunities, conduct undergraduate research, ignite academic passions and make remarkable contributions right away. You’re at a school where students describe their administration as responsive, eager to listen and open to discourse.

Here, you’re part of the most talented, driven student body in the world — known for giving back and changing the world. We can’t wait to meet you and help you do just that.

LEEANA MICAELA ESPINOZA SALAS (CAHUILLA)
Third-Year, Media and Cultural Studies

Often times, being a minority on a campus can be intimidating. It’s important to remember that you’re not alone and that you’re exactly where you belong. As a first-generation student, it’s been challenging to navigate the system without guidance from my family. But at UCR, we’re fortunate to have a large number of Native American staff and faculty to assist us with our journey. I appreciate UCR because of its diverse population and resources. In every aspect of student life, there are opportunities for representation and success.

JOSHUA THUNDER LITTLE (OGLALA LAKOTA)
Fourth-Year, History and Native American Studies

As a Native American student at UCR, I feel respected. I love that UCR is a diverse campus that provides spaces for students to have discussions and learn from each other. I also appreciate the support from Native American Student Programs. I chose UCR because of its majors and the faculty conducting indigenous-based research. I aspire to be a professor of Native American History/Studies and UCR has programs that will help me with my career. UCR is a campus that welcomes everybody and provides a strong sense of community. I have truly enjoyed my time here.

“I love that UCR is a diverse campus that provides spaces for students to have discussions and learn from each other.”
“Having a resource center like Native American Student Programs has been vital to my experience here at UCR, and made it all the more successful, memorable and fulfilling.”

LeeAna Micaela Espinoza Salas (Cahuilla)
Third-Year, Media and Cultural Studies
We are proud to be the first University of California campus to have an office dedicated to American Indian student support (and one of only a few in the system). Since 1980, Native American Student Programs (NASP) has supported American Indian students through peer mentors programs, leadership opportunities, outreach and more.

LOS ANGELES TIMES
FACULTY

WORK CLOSELY WITH BRILLIANT FACULTY.

Melanie K. Yazzie (Diné/Navajo)
Assistant Professor of Gender and Sexuality Studies
Yazzie specializes in feminism, violence studies, indigenous critiques of liberalism and colonialism, the politics of life/death and Diné studies. She uses critical approaches to examine gender and sexuality, water, Native and Navajo history, indigenous social movements, colonialism and decolonization, political theory, class, urban Indian experience, capitalism, the politics of knowledge production and more.

Gerald Clarke (Cahuilla)
Assistant Professor of Ethnic Studies/Native American Studies
Clarke’s powerful artwork appears throughout the United States and is included in several prominent museum collections including the Autry Museum of the American West and the Heard Museum. He served on the Cahuilla Tribal Council as vice chairman and as the Southern California representative to the California Association of Tribal Governments. He says that working with his hands keeps him sane and that he uses his art to express the passion, pain and reverence he feels as a contemporary Native person.

Kimberly Norris Guerrero (Colville, Salish-Kootenai, Cherokee)
Assistant Professor of Theatre, Film and Digital Production
Guerrero is an actor, writer, director and founding member of the award-winning indigenous filmmaking team The StyleHorse Collective. She has many acting credits to her name including “The Cherokee Word for Water” (named the best Indian film of the last 40 years by the American Indian Film Institute), “Seinfeld,” and the Tony Award-winning “August: Osage County” which she performed on Broadway and in London and Australia.

Wesley Y. Leonard (Miami)
Assistant Professor of Ethnic Studies/Native American Studies
Leonard examines the social factors entwined with Native American language endangerment and reclamation. As a citizen of the Miami Tribe of Oklahoma, he has focused on the reclamation of his tribal nation’s language, myaamia, once labeled “extinct,” but actually widely used by the Miami people. He is interested in developing culturally appropriate ways of applying tools of linguistics for reclaiming sleeping languages.
UCR has more Native American faculty members than any other UC.

Clifford Trafzer (Wyandot-German)
Distinguished Professor of History
Rupert Costo Chair of American Indian Affairs

Trafzer is an award-winning writer and longtime advocate of American Indian education. He has played a key role at UCR in working with administration to hire more Native faculty, create an intertribal community college (in development) and build one of the best interdisciplinary Native American Studies programs in the world.

Native American scholars/activists Rupert and Jeannette Costa helped found UCR. They also endowed the first American Indian chair in the world here and donated all of their papers, recordings and photos (which you can see in UCR’s Rivera Library).
When a teacher urged her to go to college, Linton chose UCR and became the first American Indian from a California reservation to attend a university. She earned a degree in experimental psychology, then became the first American Indian to earn a doctorate in psychology (University of California, Los Angeles). She co-founded both the National Indian Education Association (NIEA) and the Society for Advancement of Chicanos and Native Americans in Science (SACNAS), and received the 2009 Presidential Award for Excellence in Science, Mathematics and Engineering Mentoring. Today, she remains a tireless advocate for American Indians earning advanced degrees in the sciences.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS/HOW TO APPLY

APPLYING IS EASY.

First-Year Students

Admission Requirements
- 15 completed “a-g” high school courses
- GPA of 3.0 or higher (3.4 out-of-state) in “a-g” (grades C or above)
- Scores from ACT with Writing, SAT or SAT with Essay. SAT Subject Tests are optional.
- Learn more about the “a-g” requirements at hs-articulation.ucop.edu/agcourselist.

Transfer Students

Admission Requirements
- 60 semester (90 quarter) transferable units with minimum 2.4 GPA (2.8 out-of-state). (Some majors require a higher GPA.)
- 14 semester (21 quarter) units may be Pass/Not Pass.
- Completed (with C's or better) UC Seven Course Pattern: two English, one math, four from two of: arts/humanities, social/behavioral science, physical/biological science. Classes must be transferable and at least three semester (four to five quarter) units. Use uctap.universityofcalifornia.edu to track your progress.

How to Apply (All Students)

1. Gather transcripts, test scores, income, social security number (if applicable), payment method, and activities and achievements notes.
2. Answer the personal insight questions.
3. Complete the UC application starting August 1. Submit it November 1-30. You may apply to waive the $70 fee.
4. Print your receipt and watch for an email about how to access your MyUCR admission portal account — the fastest way to check your admission status.

- Use assist.org to find out if your classes will transfer and see the prerequisites and minimum GPA for your major (all transferable coursework will be taken into account).
- Did you know that by meeting certain requirements you can guarantee your transfer admission to UCR? Learn more at go.ucr.edu/tag.

WE CARE ABOUT YOUR DREAMS, NOT YOUR WALLET.

Every student, regardless of income, who dreams big and works hard should be able to graduate from the greatest public university system in the world. That’s why we will do everything we can to help you pay for school.

Apply for financial aid no matter what.

Complete a FAFSA at fasfa.ed.gov and a GPA form at csac.ca.gov to apply for the most aid. If you are an undocumented student, complete a CA Dream Act application at dream.csac.ca.gov and a GPA form at csac.ca.gov to apply for the most aid.

It costs less than you think.

70 percent of UCR undergrads have their tuition and fees fully covered by grants and scholarships, and about 85 percent of UCR undergrads get financial aid. Visit go.ucr.edu/estimate to estimate the aid that you would get at UCR.

We’re #1 in the nation for Pell Grant performance.

That means that we admit students who meet our high standards, but aren’t necessarily wealthy. Nearly half of UCR undergrads qualify as low-income, and we enroll more low-income students than all of the Ivy League institutions combined.

UCR is a good investment.

Within five years of graduating, Pell Grant recipients typically earn more than their families. UCR students graduate with a salary potential in the top 12 percent of 461 leading public universities.
